This screenshot shows the map with some fake data displayed as a heat map.

This screenshot shows the map with rock music turned off.

This is a screenshot of the popup used to enter the user data.

This screenshot shows the popup with information about the project and our team.